

READY FOR THE GDPR?

On May 25th 2018 the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) will be applicable for all organisations and public authorities. The aim of the GDPR is to enhance the protection of all EU citizens' privacy in the acknowledgement that the Data Protection Directive from 1995 does not accommodate the need for privacy in an increasingly data-driven world. In practice, organisations must be able to account for their use of personal data in all processes – not a trivial task.

The new regulation will not only require an initial uncovering of all processes and details of use of personal data. It also calls for continuous internal control efforts after May 2018. Both the preparation for compliance and the continuous compliance will inevitably have a deep reach in the organisation and thus involve a great number of employees.

COMBINING THE STRENGTHS OF TWO – SOFTWARE AND LEGAL EXPERTISE

To ease the comprehensive processes and bridging the preparation with the subsequent compliance, Impero A/S and Bruun & Hjejle Law Firm have teamed up and have developed a GDPR compliance survey and compliance solution, which is suitable for an organisation of any size, from small to global companies.

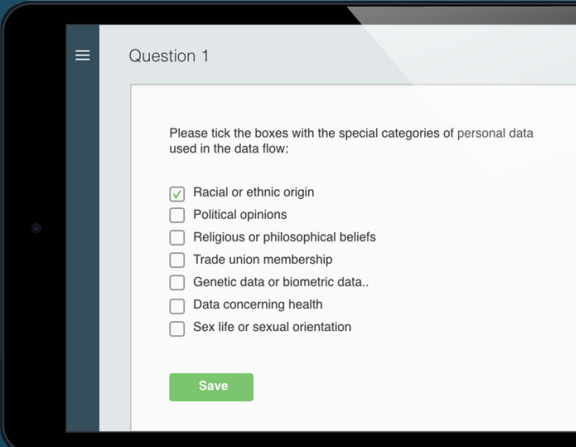

Impero is a Danish software company that already offers an intuitive cloud based compliance solution. Large and Medium-sized Companies in various industries have embraced Impero's compliance solution for its unique and light-weight approach to achieve compliance, and have found Impero as an easy way to engage with employees anywhere in the organisation. The GDPR solution is built on the same bricks as the control management solution but with the necessary changes as a consequence of other legal aspects.

Both Impero and Bruun & Hjejle saw the need for a solution, which offers an intuitive, yet effective, solution in the preparation phase and after. With Impero's strong software solution and Bruun & Hjejle's position as domain experts within the GDPR, this was a perfect match.

Impero will help you transform a complex project into efficient processes with a system, which continuously provides you with oversight of how to achieve compliance with the GDPR

“ The solution we have built together will ease the process of preparing for the GDPR and will provide a basis for continuous compliance. It provides great overview and will save a lot of time. And time is a critical factor towards May 2018. ”

Pia Kirstine Voldmester
Partner at Bruun & Hjejle

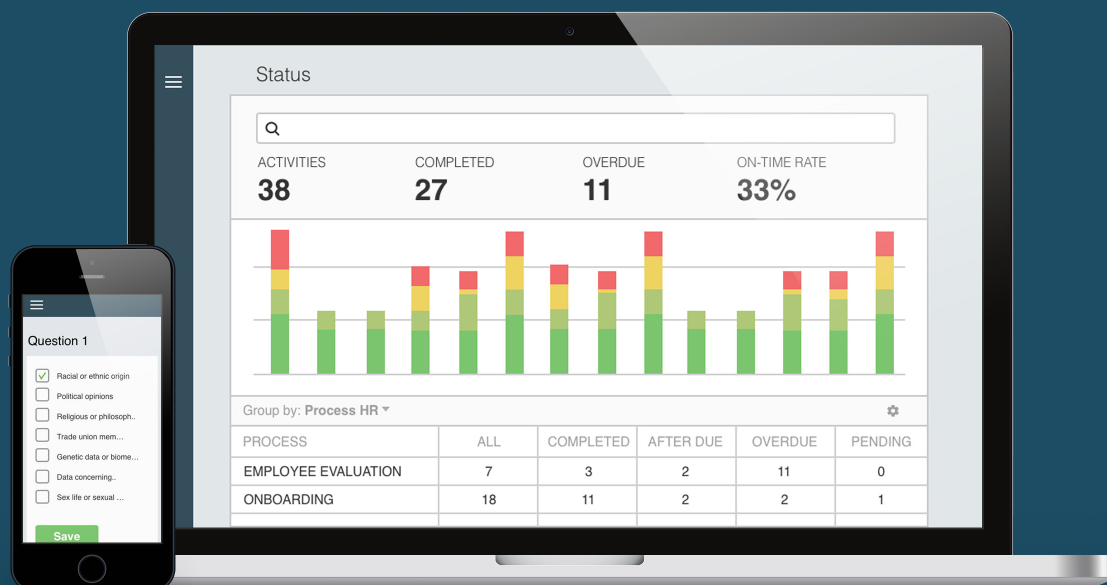

Question 1

Please tick the boxes with the special categories of personal data used in the data flow:

- Racial or ethnic origin
- Political opinions
- Religious or philosophical beliefs
- Trade union membership
- Genetic data or biometric data..
- Data concerning health
- Sex life or sexual orientation

Save

The GDPR will be applied on May 25th 2018, and our work has long begun. Impero will survey, visualize, report and manage your processing of personal data within and across countries. This process can be divided into two:

Preparation for May 2018

- Conducting surveys where users are guided through an intuitive process with relevant questions
- Mapping the processing of data like storage, data controllers and data processors and their responsibilities, as well as accessibility of the data

After May 2018

- Ensuring that all relevant processes are in scope of continuous compliance efforts
- Creating compliance controls
- Monitoring that controls are being delegated, scheduled and performed

The short-term perspective of the process is to survey and visualize data processes related to the GDPR. Impero's solution is not only a way of preparing for the GDPR, it is also a long-term solution for complying with the regulation on a daily basis. Impero will enable companies to maintain their GDPR compliance while at the same time increase efficiency through the intuitive system.

Impero will be available 24/7 with a yearly license.

Contact

Jacob Engedal Sørensen

Managing partner at Impero
M: +45 53 64 83 30
E: jes@impero.dk

Pia Kirstine Voldmester

Partner at Bruun & Hjejle
M: +45 26 86 64 28
E: pkv@bruunhjejle.dk

